VVilliam Raſtall Sergeant at Lawe, to the gentle Reader.

HERE haue ye (gentle Readers) a Collection of the Statutes of England (from the beginning of MAGNA CHARTA, vnto this preſent time) which were before this yeere imprinted, & which be now in force & effect.

The printed Statutes, expired, or repealed, or concerning priuate perſons, or ſome priuate places, I haue (for the moſt part) left out of this worke, ſauing that of them I haue made in their apt titles (as I thinke) a briefe remembrance.

The reſidue of the Statutes imprinted, haue I put in this worke (as I ſuppoſe) in their apt titles, word for word, as they be in the great Statutes: onely leauing out, as well certaine ſuperfluous wordes, as alſo the moſt part of the preambles, for that I feared, that if I ſhould haue put in all the preambles, this booke woulde haue growen ſo bigge, and ſo thicke, that it would not haue bene conteined in this volume. Neuertheleſſe I haue (I truſt) put in thoſe preambles, without which the body of the Statutes cannot be well perceiued.

But yet truſt not, that all the Statutes that I haue put at large in this booke, doe ſtand in force: for percaſe ſome of them be repealed by other Statutes made after, by ſpeciall or generall wordes, which for lacke of leaſure I could not throughly conſider. I haue noted in the Margent of euery Statute certaine words, and that for three cauſes.

The firſt, for that, that many of the ſtatutes be long, & containe many ſeuerall matters, of which percaſe you would many times gladly, ſhortly finde out ſome one (without tediouſnes, ſpending of the time in reading ouer the whole ſtatute) therefore by peruſing the words in the margent, ye may quickly conceiue, what matters bee in that ſtatute, whereby ye may readily finde out the matter that ye would read of in that ſtatute.

The ſecond cauſe is, that the wordes in the Margent well conſidered, ſhall ſtand you in as good ſteede, as ſhould a ſpeciall Calender.

The third cauſe is, becauſe that many Statutes containe diuers matters, that neceſſarily were to be put in diuers ſeuerall Titles apt for thoſe ſeuerall matters, and ſo ſhould diuers matters aptly be put in this booke twiſe or thriſe, or percaſe in moe places in their diuers apt Titles, were it not that then this booke would haue bene too big, therefore the wordes in the Margent, doe ſhortly ſhew you thoſe ſeuerall matters apt for other titles.

Note that the words in the different letter within the Parentheſes () be not the words of the Statute, but my wordes planted in there, for the better vnderſtanding of the Statute.

And although I haue put the Statutes here at large, yet wil I aduiſe euery ſuch of you, as ſhall haue any matter of importance, concerning any ſtatute in this booke, not to truſt altogether to this booke: But read you ouer diligently the Acte with the Preamble thereof, in the great bookes of Statutes, out of which I tooke this. This aduice I giue you for two cauſes: The one, for that, that reading the Preamble with the Statute, it ſhall many times giue you much light for the true vnderſtanding of the Statute: where if yee reade the Statute in this booke without the Preamble, the vnderſtanding of the Statute may be to you oft time confuſed. The other cauſe is, for that, that perhaps diuers faultes be eſcaped in this worke, ſome for lacke of diligence of the Printer, and ſome by my default, for lacke of laiſure to conſider, and aduiſedly to peruſe and ouerſee this worke after I had finiſhed it.

Note alſo that in the end of euery referment of the two Tables, you ſhall find the one of theſe foure letters, A. B. C. D. which doe ſignifie, the firſt, ſecond, third, and fourth Columne of euery leafe. VALE.

A Table (in order of Alphabet) for the readie finding of the seuerall titles conteined in this volume: whereunto are added the substance of such referments as stand at the end of ech title in the collections of the Statutes before this time published.

Examination

2 ¶ Because that some people bée in doubt whether the chyldren borne in the parts beyond the Sea out of the liegeance of England, should be able to demande any inheritance within the same liegeance or not, whereof a petition was put into the Parliament late holden at Westminster, the xvj. yere of the Raigne of our Soueraign Lord the king that now is, and was not at the same time wholie assented vnto: Our Soueraigne Lord the King, willing that all doubts and ambiguities should be taken away, and to declare, and put the law in certaine in this case, hath charged the Prelates, Earles, Barons, and other wise men of his Counsell assembled in this parliament, to deliberate vpon this point: who of one assent haue said, that the law of the Crowne of England is, and alwaies hath bin such, that the children of the Kinges of England (in whatsoeuer parties they shall be borne in England or els where) be able and ought to carie the inheritance after the death of their auncestors: Which law our said soueraign Lord the King, the said Prelates, Earles, Barons, & other great men, and al the commons assembled in this parliament, do approue and affirme for euer. And as concerning other children borne out of the liegeance of England, in the time of our soueraigne Lord the king, they be also of one minde accorded, that Henry sonne of John de Beaumond, Elizabeth daughter of Guy de Brian, & Giles sonne of Rauke Dawbeney, and other which the king will name, which were borne beyond the Sea, out of the liegeance of Englād, shalbe from henceforth able to haue and inioy their inheritance after the death of their ancestors, in all parties within the same ligeance of England, as well as those that be borne within the same ligeance of England. And that all children inheritable, which from henceforth shalbe borne out of the ligeance of the king, whose fathers and mothers at the time of their birth be and shal be at the faith, and of the liegeance of the king of England, shall haue and inioy the same benefits and aduantages, to haue and beare inheritance within the same liegeance, as the other inheritors aforesaide, in time to come: so alwaies that the mothers of such children do passe the Sea by the licence and willes of their husbands. ¶ Apparance.

Because that diuers of the Kinges liege people before this time haue bin outlawed and greatly vexed and diseased in diuers suits, aswell before the king in his Bench, as in the common bench, in the records of which suites the entries haue bin made, that the plaintifes in the same suits, obtulerunt se in propria persona sua, where the same plaintifes neuer appeared to such suits, nor neuer had knowledge of the same, to the great mischiefe of the said liege people, if remedie be not prouided in this partie. Our said Soueraigne Lord the King, willing in this case to prouide conuenient remedie, hath ordained and stablished by authoritie of this present Parliament, that no maner Filizer, Erigenter, nor none other Officer from henceforth shall make such entrie in any maner suit, except that the plaintife in the same suit, before that such entrie bee made, do appeare in his proper person before some of the said Justices of the place where the plee is or shall bee depending. And there he shalbe sworne vpon a Booke, that he is the same person, in whose name the same suit is sued, or that some other credible person of the Kinges Counsell make such othe for him. And this ordinance shall endure till the next Parliament. An. 10. H. 6. cap. 4. This acte is made perpetuall, as appeareth by the next here 2.

¶ Approuements.

BEcause manie great men of England (which haue infeoffed Knights & their freeholders of small tenementes in their great manors) haue complayned that they cannot make their profit of the residue of their manors, as of their wasts woods and pastures, whereas notwithstanding the same feoffées may haue sufficient pasture as much as appertaineth to their hold. Thus it is prouided and granted, that when so euer such feoffées do bring an Assise of Nouel disseisin for their common of pasture, And it is acknowledged before the Justicers, that they haue asmuch pasture as sufficeth for their hold, and that they haue free egresse & regresse from their hold vnto the pasture, then let them be contented therewith, and they on whom they haue complayned shall go quite, for that they haue made their profit of their lands, wast, woods and pastures. And if they alleage that they haue not sufficient pasture, or sufficient egresse and regresse according to their hold, then let the trueth be inquired by assise. And if it be found by the Assise, that the same forreors haue disturbed them of their egresse or regresse in any thing, or that they haue not sufficient pasture (as is aforesaid) then shall they recouer their seisin by the view of the Enquest, so that by their discretion and othe, the plaintifes shall haue sufficient pasture, and sufficient egresse and regresse, in forme aforesaid. And the disseisors shal be amerced, and shal yéeld damages as they were wont before this prouision. And if it be certified by the Assise, that the plaintifes haue sufficient pasture, wyth free and sufficient egresse and regresse, as before is said, let the other make their profit or approuement of the residue, & go quite of the Assise, Merton cap. 4. And they shal let the partie absent to vnderstand by our writ vnder their witnessing, & also to the iointenant that is present, of whom the deede maketh mencion, that he be present at a certain day with the other tenant, for to answere vnto the partie plaintife, aswell vpon the exception alleaged, as of the lands demanded and put in view, if it seeme expedient for him, at whych day if both that are named tenants do come in, and do iustifie the same feoffement, they shal answere and maintain the exception alleaged by one of them, and further shal answere vnto the Assise, as though the originall had bin purchased against both of them iointly. And if it be proued by Assise, that the exception was alleaged malicioussie for to delay the plaintife of his right, so that they held not the same land iointly, the day of the writ purchased, then albeit the same Assise do passe for the tenants, and against the plaintife, yet they that alleage the exception shall be punished by one yeares imprisonment, from whence they shal not be deliuered without grieuous fine. And let the Iustices be well aduised, that from henceforth they do not allow an exception alleaged by the Bailifes of any such tenants, and if he that alleageth the exception absent himselfe at his day, & the other that is named tointenant do appeare, although he iustifie the same deede and say, that he hath nothing in the aforesaid lands &c. neuertheles the Assise shal passe against him that is absent by default. And if it be found by assise that they were not iointly seised the day of the writ purchased, and likewise that the tenant against whom the writ was purchased, or any other named in the writ did disseise the plaintife, then hauing regard to them that were falsely and maliciously alleaged to the hurt of the partie, and to the disseisin that they made, the plaintife shall recouer his seisin and double damages, and they that alleage the false exception, shall haue the punishment aforesaid: But if neither of the tenants do come in at the day, then vpon their default the Assise shall passe against them. And if it be found that the same exception was lawfully and truely alleaged, and that they that alleaged it, were iointly seised before the plaintif purchased his writ against them, the assise shall passe no further, but the writ shal be abated. The same shalbe obserued if both or one do appeare, if it be found by Assise that the exception was truely alleaged, as before is said. The same order shalbe obserued in Assises of Mortdancester, and writs of Iuris vtrum, that the first day that the parties appeare in Court, if the tenant alleage the exception against the demandant, shewing a deede thereupon, and the demandant will offer to auerre by the Assise or Iurie, that the day of his writ purchased, he that alleaged the exception was sole tenant, hereafter the same maner of proces shal be vsed in assises of Mortdancester, and writs of Iuris vtrum, as before is ordained in Assises of Nouel disseisin, and like punishment shall be awarded to the offendors. But in other writs whereby lands are demaunded, such proces shalbe made at the first day that the parties appeare in Court, if the tenant do alleage the foresayd exception of a ioint feoffement, and the demandant will offer to auerre by the Countrey, that the day of the writ purchased, he that alleaged the exception was sole tenant, then the same maner of proces shalbe obserued betwixt the parties, vntil a Iurie haue passed betweene them therupon. And if it be founden by the Iury that the same exception was truely alleaged, then the writ of the demandant shal abate. And if it be founden by the Iurie that the same exception was falsely and maliciously alleaged, to the hinderance of the partie, then the demandant shall recouer hys seisin of the lands in demand, and the tenant shall be punished by the paine aboue said in a writ of Nouel disseisin, as to the imprisonment, and as to the dammages according to the discretion of the Iustices, An. 34. 13 ¶ Anno 12. Edw. 4. capit. 3. It appeareth that in Anno 3. Edw. 4. a Subsidie of Tonnage and pondage was graunted to the king for his life of certain wares. And in the saide Acte of 12. Edward. 4. cap. 3. It is further enacted as followeth. No Marchant Denizen or Stranger, shall set or suffer any Cloth of golde, of Siluer, Bawdkin, Ueluet, Damaske, Satten, Tartaron, or Chamblet, nor none other cloth of Silke, nor any coyle of Silke and of gold, nor of Silke of the making of any of the parties beyonde the sea to sell, before that that the Collectors of the subsidie of Tonnage and Pondage, and the Comptroller of the same, in the Port where such marchandizes is set vpon land, hath surueyed and measured the same, and hath sealed euery piece thereof in the one end thereof, with the seale or marke, especially to bee ordeined for the same, whereof the same Collectours haue the one part, and the Comptroller hath the other part, seuerally in their custodie. And if any such cloth of Golde, Siluer, Bawdkin, Ueluet, Damaske, Satten, Sarcenet, Tartaron, Chamblet, and cloth of Silke and Golde, bee any time hereafter set to sale not sealed, nor hauing such Seale thereupon: That then hee which setteth such marchandize to sale, shall forfeit the same marchandize, or the value thereof, whereof two parts shall be to the King, and the third part to the finder. Also it is ordeined by the same authoritie, that the Collectours of the same subsidie, and the said Comptroller shall at all times requisit, be ready to seale such marchandizes, and to seale the same at all times when they be required, without delay, or taking any thing for the same in any wise, vpon paine of forfeiture to the Owner thereof twentie shillings, for euery of the said Collectours and Comptrollers at any time that they refuse to seale such marchandize after such request made, or taking any thing for the sealing of any such marchandize. Also it is ordeined by the authoritie aforesaid, that all maner of such clothes of Golde, of Siluer, Bawdkin, Ueluet, Damaske, Satten, Sarcenet, Tartaron, Chamblet, and euerie other cloth of Silke, corse of Gold and Silke, now being within this Realme, and after the feast of Saint Michael the Archangell next comming, offered to sell, shall be sealed with the said Seales before the said feast, vpon the paine before specified. Also whereas it is expressed in the said grant of the said subsidie, that if any concealement be found in the Marchants in the paiment of the said duties, that they for such concealement, shall pay only double subsidie, without other paine or forfeiture therein, as in the same act is more fullie conteined.

The King considering that notwithstanding the same ordinance, Marchants doe not regard to defraud him of his duetie of the said Subsidie, inasmuch as they doe nothing forfeite in that behalfe, but onely pay the double Subsidie: By the aduice, assent, and authoritie aforesayd, hath ordeined and established, that the same statute in this behalfe be void, and of no strength. And if any marchandizes which be to be brought from the parties beyond the Sea, or to bee caried out of this Realme, whereof any Subsidie is or shall be due, or perteining to the King, be hereafter shipped to be carried beyond the Sea, the Collectours of the said Subsidie not payed, or without agreement with the Collectours of the said Subsidie for the same: That then the said marchandizes, or the value thereof shall be forfeit to the King. Also whereas diuers Marchant strangers, and other, oftentimes in the Citie of London, and in other places, haue packed diuers woollen clothes, some in graine, some vngrained, and other clothes not grained, and the same so packed, caused to be carried by land from London and other places, to other ports, as to Sandwich, Southhampton, and other ports, whereas the Customers for the time being, without due packing or sight of such clothes, vpon the information of the Marchant, doe custome such clothes as for course clothes, whereby the King is greatly deceiued of his dueties thereof, aswell in the fineneſſe of such clothes, as in not knowing of the number of the clothes so packed: Therefore the King by the aduice and assent aforesayd, and by the same authoritie, doth ordeine, establish and enact, that in euery port within this Realme of England, wherein any woollen clothes shall be packed, after the first day of May next comming, in the presence of the Collectours of the aforesayde Customes and Subsidies of the same Port for the time being, that all such Customes and Subsidies due and perteining to the King for the said clothes, shalbe payd and contented to the same Collectors where the said clothes be so packed, or els sufficient sureties shall be therefore to them found, before that the same clothes be carried from the said Port, to any other Port or place, vpon paine of forfeiture of all the same clothes, or the valle thereof, to be had of the owner of the same. And if any woollen clothes to bee carried ouer the Sea, bee packed in any other manner, or vnder any other forme: That then the Collectours of the Port where they be so packed, or brought to be packed, shall seise, and there vnpacke all the sayd packs and fardels, and survey all the clothes therein, so that our Souereigne Lorde the King may bee truely answered of his duetie in this behalfe, without any fraud or deceit. And if any Customer or Comptroller of any Port or place be negligent or slacke, in vnpacking of the sayde clothes, or surueying of them, in the forme aforesayd: that then and as often euery such Customer and Comptroller, for euery such default, shall forfeit to our Souereigne Lord the King twentie shillings for euery such cloth.

Moreouer, it is ordeined by the aduice and the assent aforesayd, that euery of the sayd Collectours, receiuing any custome or subsidie for any of the sayd clothes, or suretie for the same, shall be thereof charged and chargeable to our Souereigne Lorde the King, vpon his or their account. And that the same Collector or Collectors shall from time to time, make a cocket or cockets of all such clothes, directed to the Collectours of the Port where the same clothes shall be shipped, witnessing their number, and that he or they haue receiued the customes and subsidies of the same clothes, or suretie for the same, By which cocket or cockets, the sayd Collectours or the Receiuers of them, shall be thereof discharged against our Souereigne Lord the King and all other, of the same customes and subsidies.

2 ¶ In a writ of Dower called (Vnde nihil habet) the Writ shall not abate by the exception of the tenant, because she hath receiued her dower of another man before her writ purchased, vnleſſe he can shew, that she hath receiued part of her dower of himself, and in the same towne, before the writ purchased. W. 1. cap. 48. An. 3. E. 1.

3 ¶ In case where the husband being impleaded for land, giuing by the lande demaunded vnto his aduersarie by couin, after the death of the husband, the Iusticers shall awarde the wife of her Dower, if shee demaund it by writ. But in case where the husband leeseth it by default, the land being in demaund, and the wife after the death of her husband demaundeth her dower, it hath bene seene that some Iustices haue awarded vnto the woman her dower, notwithstanding the default which her husbande made: other Iusticers being of the contrary opinion, and iudging otherwise. To the intent that from henceforth such ambiguitie shalbe taken away and put in certaine: It is prouided, that in both cases the woman demaunding her dower, shalbe heard. And if it be alleaged against her, that her husband lost the land, whereof the dower is demaunded by iudgement, whereby she ought not to haue Dower, and then it be inquired by what iudgement, and it be founde that it was by default, whereunto the tenaunt must answere: then it behoueth him to answere further, and to shew that hee had right, and hath in the foreſaid land, according to the forme of the Writ, that the tenant before purchased against the husband. And if he can shew, that the husband of such wife had no right in the landes, nor none other but he, the tenant shalbe quite, and the wife shall recouer nought of her Dower, which thing if he cannot shew, the wife shall recouer her dower. And so in these cases, and in certaine other following: that is to say, when the wife being indowed leeseth her dower by default, and tenants in free marriage, by the lawe of Englande, or for terme of life, or in fee taile, diuers actions doe concure for such tenants, when they must demaund the land lost by default. And when it is come to that point, that the tenant must be compelled to shew his right, forasmuch as the law will not compell them to make answere without them to whome the reuersion belongeth: therefore they are suffered to vouch to warrantie, according to the tenor of the writte, as if they were tenants. And if they haue a warrantie, when the warrantor hath warranted, the plea shall passe betweene him that is seised and the warrantor, according to the tenour of the writ that the tenant purchased before, and by which hee recouered by default, and so from many actions, at length they shall resort to one iudgement, which is this, that either the demandants shall recouer their demaund, or the tenants shall go quite. And if the action of such tenant, which is compelled to shew his right, bee mooued by a writ of right, though that the great assise or battell cannot be ioyned by the words accustomed, yet it shalbe ioyned by wordes conuenient & vsed: for when the tenant in that that he sheweth his right which belongeth to him by the writte that hee before purchased in steade of a demandant, the warrantor may well defend the right of the tenant, which commeth in place of the demandant, as before is said, & alledge the seisin of his auncestor, and to defend it by the body of a freeman, or put himselfe in the great assise, and pray recognisance to be made thereof whether he hath more right to the land being in demaund, or els the partie before named: or it may be ioyned otherwise by the great assise, and so the warrantor may defend the right, and knowledge the seisin of his auncestor, & put himselfe in the great assise &c. and pray recognisance to be made, whether he hath more right in the foreſaid land, as in that whereof he infeffed such a man, or that such a one released and quite claime &c. or els the aforesaid party &c. endowed of the land of an heire being within age, doeth purchase a writ of Dower against a garden, and the garden endoweth the woman by fauor, or maketh default, or by collusion defendeth the plea so faintly, whereby the wife is awarded her dower in preiudice of the heire: It is prouided, that the heire, when he commeth to full age, shall haue an action to demand the seisin of his ancestor against his wife, like as he should haue against any other defendor. Prouided alwayes that the wife shall haue her exception saued against the demaundant, to shew that she had right to her dower, which if she can shew, she shall go quit, and receiue her dower, and the heire shalbe grieuously amerced, according to the discretion of the Iusticers: And if not, the heire shall recouer his demand &c. In like maner the wife shalbe aided, if the heire or any other do implead her for her dower, and if she lose her dower by default, in which case the default shall not be so preiudiciall to her, but that she shall recouer her dower, if she haue right thereto, and she shall haue this writ.

The King therefore minding to aduaunce trueth, and also to prouide for the continuance of the saide commoditie to his honor, and the common profite of the realme, hath by the aduise &c. caused aswell diuers honest Clothiers, as also diuers Drapers, Marchant Taylers, Clothworkers, Sheremen, and other Artificers, to whome it appertaineth, to be examined by certaine sage Knights, and Burgesses of this present Parliament, by whose declaration, consent, and aduise, after diuers meetings, and great deliberate aduise taken in the premisses: It is enacted as hereafter followeth, to remaine firme and perfect, notwithstanding any suggestions hereafter to be made to the contrary: that is to say, that euery Cloth, Kersey, peece of Frize and Cotton, shalbe made in such sort and forme, and shall conteine in length, bredth, & weight, as is herein hereafter particularly mentioned, vpon such paines, penalties and forfaitures, as bee hereafter expressed and appointed.

60 ¶ Where in the parliament holden at Westminster, in the v. & vi. yeere of the reigne of our late Soueraigne Lord king Ed. the first (before 52) there was by great deliberation and aduise, one good act made for the true and perfect making of woollen cloth within this Realme, sithence the making whereof, diuers clothiers found them selues agrieued, alledging that it is vnpossible for them to obserue the same act in all pointes, & haue in this present parliament prayed some mitigation therof: It is therefore at their speciall instance and request ordered, established, enacted and prouided in maner & forme folowing. In primis that euery white cloth and clothes commonly called long Worcesters, and all like cloth of like making, mentioned in the sayde acte which by the same was limited to weigh lxxtiii. pollos, being wel scoured, thicked, milled & fully dried, shal weigh lxxv. pound at the least: Item euery white cloth which shalbe made in the Counties of Wiltshire, Glocester, & Somerset, or any of them, or elswhere, of like making, being appointed by the said acte to weigh lxtiii. pounds, shall weigh being well scoured, thicked, milled, and fully dried lxi. pounds at the least. This is altered in part after 68. Item euery yard of cloth commonly called handy warpe, being well scoured, thicked, milled & fully dried, shall conteine the breadth specified in the said act, and shall weigh two pounds and a halfe at the least. And forasmuch, as many persons doe counterfeit the making of Cocksall, Bocking & Braintree clothes, commonly called handwarps, adding thereunto such like list, as ỳ makers of such clothes doe, to the great deceit of the king & Queenes maiesties subiects. Bee it therefore enacted, that no person or persons from the first day of May next comming, shall adde vnto any cloth or clothes any such like list or listes, except the warpe thereof be spunne vpon the rocke or distaffe, vpon paine of forfaiture of the same cloth or clothes, or the very value thereof. Prouided alwayes that the cloth makers within the citie of Worcester, may make such lists as they haue done heretofore. Item, that no person or persons inhabiting within the West riding, in the countie of Yorke, shall make or cause to be made, any broad cloth or clothes, called pewkes, townics, violets or greenes, except the wooll thereof before it bee conuerted into yarne, be first dried, litted & coloured with the colour blew, of the value of ii. d. a pound, vpon paine of forfeiture of euery such coloured cloth, or the value thereof, whereof the wooll shall not be first died, litted & coloured with the colour blew of ii. d. a pound as is afore said. Item, that euery ordinary kersey mentioned in the said acte, shall conteine in length in the water betwixt xvi. & xvii. yardes, yard and inch, and being well scoured, thicked, milled, dressed and fully dried, shall weigh xii. pounds the piece at the least. of woollen cloth, whereby (amongst other things) it was enacted, that all whites and reds, which after the feast of S. Michael the Archangell then next comming, should be made in the shires or counties of Wiltshire, Glocester and Somerset, or any of them, or elswhere, of like making, and all other whites which should be made in any other parts of this Realme of England, and not before in the same statute remembred, should conteine in length being throw wet, betweene sixe and eight & twentie yards, and should be seuen quarters of the yard in breadth within the listes at the least, and listed according to the ancient custome, and being well scoured, thicked, milled, and fully dyed, should weigh euerie piece lviii. pounde being white, and lx. pound being coloured at the least, as by the sayd act among diuers clauses, articles and prouisions conteined in the same, more plainly is expressed. And whereas also in the Parliament holden at Westminster in the fourth and fifth yeeres of the reignes of our late souereigne Lord and Lady King Philip and Queene Marie, one other statute was made, intituled, An act touching the making of woollen clothes, whereby also (among other things) it was ordeined, established, enacted and prouided, that euery white cloth which should be made in the Counties of Wiltshire, Glocester, and Somerset, or any of them, or elswhere, of like making, appointed by the sayd acte, made in the said fifth & sixth yeeres of king Edward the sixt, to weigh lviii. pounds, should weigh being well scoured, thicked, milled & fully dyed, lxi. pound at the least, with a prouision in the same last recited act conteined, that no person or persons should incurre the danger, penaltie or forfeiture limited and appointed for any offence in the sayd former recited act, which was mitigated or otherwise appointed by the sayd act made in the fourth & fifth yeres of king Philip and Queene Marie, as by the same act made in the fourth and fifth yeeres of king Philip and Queene Mary, amongst diuers clauses, articles & prouisos therein conteined, more plainly is expressed: Sithence the making of which sayd seuerall Statutes, although the makers of the said clothes haue indeuoured themselues according to their best skill and industrie to performe and fulfill the said recited statutes in euery of their cloches, as much as in them did lie, as touching the breadth of cloches, Breadths and to that end and purpose haue allowed and doe allow so much yarne and stuffe to euery such cloth as might sufficientlie serue to make all the said clothes ful out in length and breadth, according to the sayd former Statute made in the fifth and sixth yeres of king Edward the sixt, & in weight according to the sayd branch of the sayd statute, made in the fourth and fifth yeeres of the reignes of the late King Philip and Queene Mary: Yet notwithstanding many times by reason of the diuers natures in the woolles, and by the great diuersities in the spinning, carding and milling, many of the said clothes made within the said counties of Wiltshire, Glocester and Somerset and Dxon. & elswhere of like making, doe not conteine full seuen quarters in breadth, Seuen quarters according to the sayd Statute made in the fifth and sixth yeeres of king Edward the sixt, and yet doe holde their full weight or more, according to the former statute made in the time of the sayd King Philip and Queene Marie, and no default touching the breadth can iustly be imputed to the maker thereof, for that the sayd Clothmakers (as experience dayly sheweth) cannot obserue the said former statutes in all the said Clothes as touching the breadth, although they indeuour themselues neuer so much thereunto: which cloches not conteining their full Assise in breadth, as is aforesayd, are many times taken and seised by the Searchers of London, when they come to their market at Blackwellhall, to the great losse and damage of the said Clothmakers, and to the great hinderance of clothmaking within the sayd Counties: In consideration whereof, albeit it is not hereby intended to repeale or make voyd the sayd former recited estatutes, or either of them, otherwise then is hereafter expressed: Yet neuertheless be it enacted by the Queenes most excellent Maiestie, with the assent of the Lords spirituall and temporall, and the Commons, &c. That no person or persons shall be hereafter charged for any such default which hereafter shall be in any of the said clothes mentioned in this act for want of breadth of seuen quarters, so that the same cloth do conteine in breadth being throughly wet, sixe quarters and a halfe at the least Breadth sixe quarters & a halfe within the listes vnwrought and listed, according to the ancient custome: any thing in any of the sayd former statutes mentioned to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding.

Prouided

Prouided alwayes, and be it enacted by the authoritie aforesayd, that if any of the sayd clothes shall not conteine sixe quarters and a halfe at the least within the lists, as aforesayd, that then euery person offending in that behalfe, shall for euery such cloth be subiect to such paines, penalties and forfeitures, as were by force of the former recited statute of the fift and sixt peres of king Edward the sixt, to haue bene forfeited for want of breadth of seuen quarters within the listes.

And be it neuertheless enacted by the authoritie aforesayd, that if any cloth to be made within any of the sayd Counties or elsewhere of like making, called narrow listed whites, being well scoured, thicked, milled and fully dried, shall conteine in weight any lesse then lxi. pounds at the least, or if any cloth to be made within any of the sayd counties or elswhere of like making, called broad listed whites, being well scoured, thicked, milled and fully dried, shall conteine in weight any lesse then lxiii. pound at the least, or if any of the sayd clothes called narrow listed or broad listed whites, shal conteine in length any more then xxviii. yardes at the most: that then euery of the sayd Clothiers therein offending, shall incurre double such penalties and forfeitures for euery pound so wanting of the seuerall weights aboue limited, and for euery yard so exceeding in length, and not weighing after such rate, as is before expressed, as by the sayd statute of the fourth and fifth peres of King Philip and Queene Mary is prouided and appointed: This act to endure and continue for the space of fiue peres next after the end of this Session of this present Parliament, and from the end of the sayd fiue peres, vntill the end of the next Session of Parliament then next ensuing. Anno 27. Elizabeth. cap 17. And after Anno 35. Elizabeth. cap. 7. This Act is made perpetuall.

Weight

69 Wherein the Parliament vpon Prorogation holden at Westminster the xviii. of January in the v. pere of the reigne of the late king of famous memorie Edward the sixth, one Act was made for true making of woollen clothes: by which Act amongst other things it was inacted, that from and after the feast of Saint Michael the Archangel next ensuing the making of the sayd Act, no person or persons should put any haire, flore or any parne of lambes wooll into any cloth, kersey, frize or cotton, made and solde, or offered to bee solde, as in the sayd Act is expressed, vpon paine to forfeit euery such cloth, kersey, frize and cotten, wherein any such parne, haire or flore should be put, or the value of such cloth, kersey, frize or cotton, as by the sayd act it doth and may appeare. And whereas by an other act made in the Parliament holden at Westminster in the vii. peere of the reigne of the sayd late king, intituled, An acte for the making of plaine white straites, and pinned white straites in Deuon and Cornewall, the sayd former acte was altered, and libertie giuen to the makers of the said clothes called plaine white straites and pinned white straites, to vse in making of the sayd clothes, flore, haire or parne made of lambes wooll, and by the sayd statute diuers rules and orders were appointed for making of the sayd clothes called plaine white straites, and pinned white straites, as by the sayd statute doeth appeare: Nowe for that the orders and rules both by the sayd statute made in the sayd fifth peere, as also in the sayd seuenth pere of the said late king Edward the sixth, tend to the vtter vndoing & decay of great numbers and multitudes of people, which liue by the trade of clothing, and are not profitable any longer to bee kept in these Countries & places, where the said clothes called plaine white straites and pinned white straites are vsually made, the same clothes being but a base and course kinde of clothes, vsually made for the vse of poore people beyond the Seas, and most commonly shipped into Britaine, and there vttered for a Marchandize to serue the vse of the poore sort there: And especially for that sithence the making of the sayd Statutes, the parne wherewith the said clothes called plaine white straites and pinned white straites are vsually made to the great benefit of the poore people where the same are made, is growen smaller and finer, whereby many more poore people are set on worke with spinning of the same, then either at or before the making of any the said seuerall statutes they were, so that the weight, length and breadth cannot agree, as before it did in making of the sayd clothes.

Be it therefore enacted, &c. that the branch made in the sayd fifth peere, which prohibiteth putting of haire, flore or parne made of lambes wooll into any cloth or frize, hauing regard vnto the sayd clothes called plaine white straites and pinned white straites, bee vtterly repealed and made voyde. And that the sayd statute also made in the said seuenth yere of the reigne of the sayd late King, and euery branch, article and clause therein, bee from henceforth vtterly repealed & void for euer: And that it be further enacted, that from henceforth it shall bee lawfull to all and euery the Queenes Maiesties subiectes inhabiting, or which hereafter shall inhabite within the sayd Counties of Deuon and Cornewall, aswell in townes corporate, Market townes or elsewhere, to weaue and make the sayde Clothes called plaine white straites and pinned white straites, and to vse and occupie in making of the sayd Clothes called plaine white straites, and pinned white straites, flore, haire and yarne made of lambes wooll, and to haue and keepe and vse in his or their houses three Loomes and not aboue for making of the clothes aforesayd, and to make the same clothes of such length, weight and breadth, as the marchant shall like or accept, to buy the same for marchandizes, or appoint the same to be made for the vse and most acceptable allowance of the countrey people where the same shall be transported for marchandizes, for that in truth none of the same are worne or occupied within this Realme: The said statute made in the fifth yere of the reigne of the sayd late king Edward the sixt, or any other lawe or statute heeretofore made to the contrary notwithstanding.

And foꝛaſmuch as ſhirifes, Conſtables and other, obtaine many times outragious allowances, by pꝛetence of the kings woꝛks, and other things done and pꝛouided by his commandement: It is pꝛouided, that all Suꝛueioꝛs of the kings woꝛks ſhalbe choſen by the othe of xii. men, and of ſuch as will & may attend beſt to the office. that Justices and Inquirors, whatsoeuer king, by reason of the pleas or quarrels holbe done twice in the yeere, that is to say, at Easter and Michaelmas. Item charge and commaundement bee giuen to the Clerke of the Market, and of measures, that he de-

And the Warden of the Aulnage shal deliand also where and when, and to whom the
